Thailand Election Recap | การเลือกตั้งของประเทศไทย ปี May 31, 2023

Overview

On May 14, Thailand held a general election to elect all 500 seats in the House of Representatives. The 67 political parties that participated in the election, the Move Forward party, led by Pita Limjap won a surprise victory. It outperformed expectations by receiving 36.23 percent of the vote, or 131 seats in the House – including 32 of the 33 seats in Bangkok. The Move Forward Party's (MFP) coalition partner, the Pheu Thai party, received the second highest votes at 27.6 percent, or 141 seats. Voter turnout reached an all-time high at 75.22 percent, exceeding the 75.03 percent mark set in 2011.

Despite MFP's electoral success, the future of Thailand remains uncertain. Structural barriers prevent MFP from forming a government and keep Limjap out of the prime minister's office, which has implications for the political and economic stability of Thailand, which can directly affect operations. The election results represent a popular rejection of the military-backed rule of the past years. Extra-parliamentary interventions by military authorities to prevent MFP and its coalition partner taking power could risk provoking an angry public backlash and create an unstable climate for business.

2023 Turkish Election Recap | 2023 Türkiye Seçim Özeti | June 16, 2023

Overview

On May 14, Turkey held a general election to elect the country's president and all 600 seats in the Grand National Assembly. The governing Justice and Development Party (AK Party) of incumbent President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan led the "People's Alliance," which is a coalition that includes the Nationalist Movement Party (MHP), the Great Union Party (BBP), and the New Welfare Party (YRP). The People's Alliance retained its majority in the National Assembly by winning 323 seats, or 49.50 percent of the vote. The leading opposition, the Nation Alliance, increased its number of seats in Parliament, winning a total of 212 seats, or 35.04 percent of the vote. The Nation Alliance is composed of six parties, referred to as the "Table of Six," including the Republican People's Party (CHP), the Good Party (İYİ Party), the Democracy and Progress Party (Deva Partisi), the Future Party (Gelecek Partisi), the Felicity Party (Saadet), and the Democrat Party (DP).

Four presidential candidates were on the ballot, including incumbent President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, Nation Alliance leader Kemal Kilicdaroglu, Ancestral Alliance leader Sinan Oğan, and Homeland Party leader Muharrem İnce. In the first round of voting on May 14, Erdoğan received 49.50 percent of the vote, while Kilicdaroglu received 44.89 percent, followed by Oğan's 5.17 percent and İnce's 0.44 percent.
