PACs:

The Importance of Association Political Involvement

What is a PAC?

Why Have PACs?

- Associations are prohibited from directly contributing to federal candidates – but they may operate a PAC.
- A PAC is strictly regulated by the FEC and only allows for voluntary, individual contributions under stringent guidelines for participation.
- A PAC is a legal, transparent and federally monitored means of expressing united interests with one powerful voice.
- A PAC is power in numbers.

Why PACs?

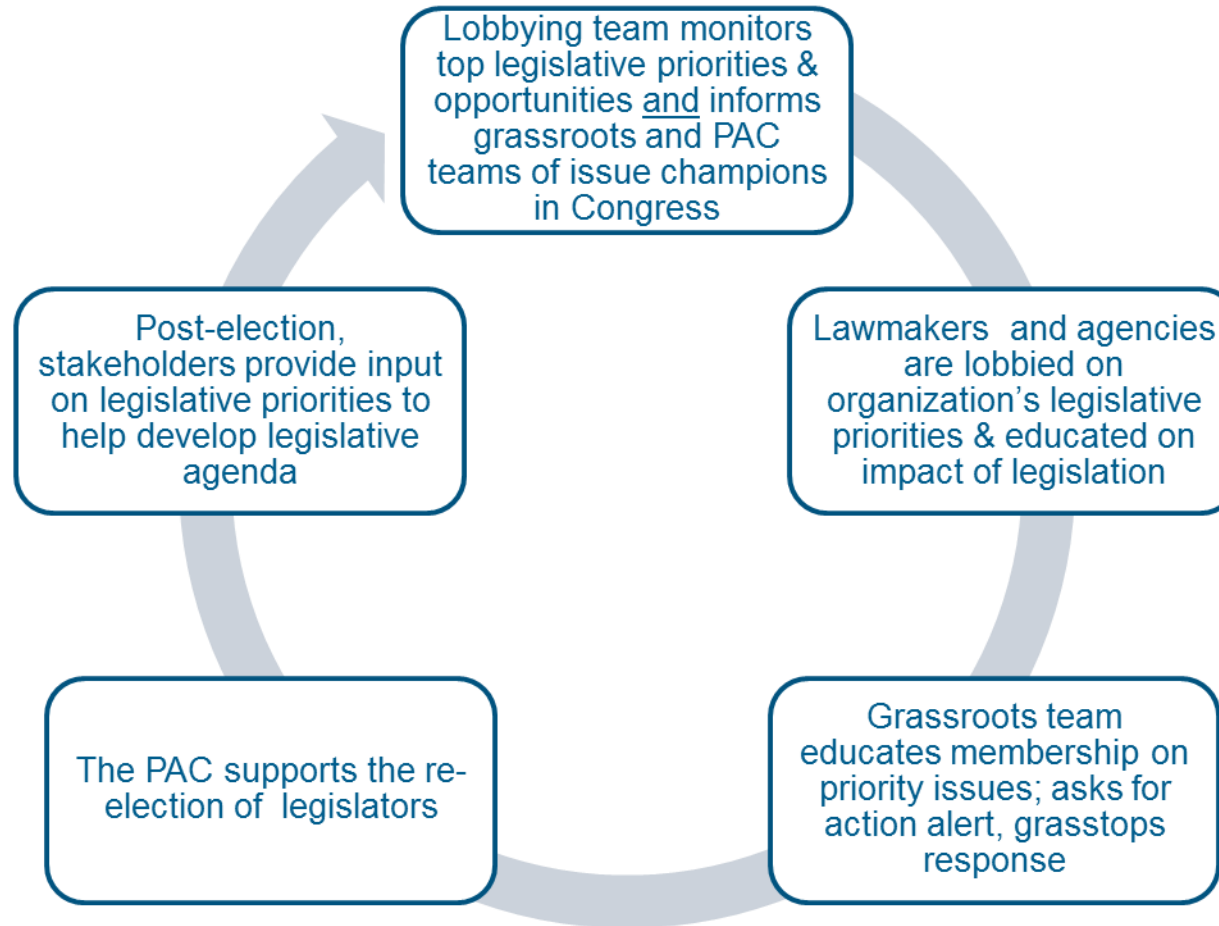

PACs and supporting candidates are the only things an association cannot do for itself and for which it relies on its members for support.

Why Have PACs?

Where Does the PAC Fit?

PACs in 2019

There are more than 4,000 connected PACs in the United States (connected to an association, labor organization or corporation).

More than half are corporate PACs.

PACs contributed $497 million to federal candidates in the 2018 election cycle ($473 million in the 2016 cycle).

Super PACs and Association PACs

An association PAC is not a super PAC.

Super PACs are:

- Individual and corporate money spent on uncoordinated ads and communications
- Super PAC money is not contributed directly to candidates

FACT

The only entities that can give to candidates are individuals and PACs connected to organizations.
